- Industry leading reliability. Commport boasts a 99.99% uptime due to the hosting of our own datacenter.
- Data encryption and secure communications methods ensure the security of your data.
- Easily view your transactions status' using the monitoring tools available, or request direct notification for exception handling.

HOW IT WORKS

Inbound EDI documents from your trading partners are translated into a data structure that your data system can import. Customized mappings ensure that all relevant and needed data points are included and in the format and structure your system expects. This data is then delivered to you via an automated communications method and available to import directly into your ERP, Accounting and/or other business systems.

Outbound business documents are exported from your system and sent to Commport, where customized mappings convert them to EDI documents to be delivered to your trading partners.
